Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Performance for periods greater than one year is annualized. The expense charge(s) shown may not have existed for the periods presented. Performance was calculated by applying the stated expense charge to the actual gross crediting rates for the periods shown. Prior to July 1, 2012, some clients may have experienced lower expense charges which may have resulted in actual returns higher than shown. Performance may be different if your Anchor crediting rates are reset at a frequency other than daily.

1. The one-year turnover ratio for the Anchor Account separate account portfolio is measured as the lesser of (1) the sum of long-term purchases or (2) the sum of long-term sales including maturities and paydowns; divided by the average market value for the year. Long term fixed income securities have a maturity of one year or greater. 2. Ratings by Moody's, S&P, and/or Fitch. AAA through BBB represent investment grade. Below BBB is non-investment grade. When a security has multiple ratings, the highest of three major rating agencies Moody's, S&P, and/or Fitch is used. 3. While the Anchor Account carries relatively low risk, primary inherent risks include (i) interest rate risk—the risk that increases in interest rates may decrease the value of existing debt securities held in the Anchor Account and the risk of reinvesting cash flows at lower interest rates; (ii) credit/default risk—the risk that downgrades to the credit ratings of existing debt securities held in the Anchor Account, may decrease their value and the risk that issuers of debt securities will default on scheduled payments of interest and/or principal; (iii) liquidity risk—the risk of the effect on the Anchor Account's total value of large unexpected withdrawals; (iv) Anchor Account group annuity contract risk—the risk that New York Life will default on its obligations under the contract or that other events could render the contract invalid; or the contract is terminated and a contractual negative adjustment to the withdrawal amount applies; or that New York Life will not provide book value coverage for redemptions following certain employer-initiated events or actions (such as a plan termination, layoffs, early retirement programs, or bankruptcy of the plan sponsor). Depending upon the nature of the event, the occurrence could result in a loss in value to the contract holder's interest in the Anchor Account and/or may cause participants to receive less than book value. 4.
